Dear Dick, 2/20/92

Spoke to McKnight after packaging Meagher's book.

He is not aware of any legal problems re reprinting but will speak to Kuhn about it tomorrow.

Greg Stone's sister, in fact, had expressed the hope that the book would be reprinted.

He thinks that the lawyer had asked about eliminating from her files what she had indicated she wanted eliminated and that the retired prof, a fine guy who was doing it, got sick and maybe when he was better did not finish up.

Meagher has two nieces in the New York area. If the library open house 4/17 is used to make the announcement, and I think it should also be a memorial to Meagher, as I've already suggested, perhaps they and their husbands should be invited.

Along with Greg Stone's sister.

Best,
